CRO in Transition

Advisory Program

Sales & Marketing Overview

Stop taking the wrong CRO job. Again.

The typical approach — recruiter calls, network outreach, reactive interviewing — feels productive. It's not. It's a multi-year career bet based on a few interviews and a pitch deck. You wouldn't let your sales team close a deal that way. Why are you closing the biggest deal of your career that way?

CRO Transitions by the Numbers

The problem isn't talent.

It's that CROs take roles without a system for evaluating fit, negotiating authority, or designing the conditions for success.

Why It Keeps Happening

Accepting Titles, Not Mandates

You accepted “CRO” without defining what authority, resources, and support come with it. The title meant one thing to you and another to the CEO.

No Counter-Due-Diligence

You didn’t stress-test the environment. You evaluated the opportunity — not whether the company could actually support a CRO.

Interviewing from Reaction

You carried emotional residue from your last role into the next interview. Urgency replaced strategy. Relief replaced rigor.

The CRO Paradox

You were hired to fix what constrains you. Revenue leadership requires cross-functional authority that most orgs aren’t structured to give.

Assess & Position

CRO-Readiness Diagnostic

10 dimensions: GTM Architecture, Revenue Model Fit, Cross-Functional Authority, Board Readiness, Market Timing, Org Maturity, Culture Alignment, Talent Leverage, Tech & Data, Risk Profile

Crucible Assessment

Transition Readiness Score

Composite score across all dimensions. Tells you not just if you're ready — but what kind of CRO role you're ready for.

Target & Develop

CRO INTERVIEW SYSTEM™

- Role-Specific Question Bank (50+ questions)
- CEO Assessment Framework
- Board Dynamics Evaluator
- PE Sponsor Alignment Check
- Org-Readiness Scorecard
- Red Flag / Green Flag Decision Matrix

Counter-Due-Diligence Framework

Investigate the company the way PE investigates an acquisition. Financials, culture, org structure, board dynamics.

Signal Library

100+ signals organized by category: interview tells, reference patterns, offer structure red flags, onboarding signals.

Red Flag Taxonomy

Categorized risk indicators with severity ratings. Know what to probe, what to negotiate, and what to walk away from.

Pursue & Investigate

The session that separates preparation from performance.

CEO Simulation

Live role-play of your first conversation with a CEO. We challenge your positioning, test your narrative, and pressure-test your readiness under realistic conditions.

Board Presentation

Present your 90-day plan to a simulated board. Defend your strategy, handle pushback on timelines, and demonstrate executive presence under scrutiny.

Scored Feedback

Structured debrief with scored evaluation across 8 dimensions: Clarity, Conviction, Strategic Depth, Executive Presence, Adaptability, Specificity, Risk Awareness, Closing Strength.

Close & Design

We negotiate the role before negotiating the money.

ROLE DESIGN CANVAS

Scope	What you own, what you don't, and where the lines are
Authority	Decision rights, budget control, hiring/firing power
Resources	Team, budget, tools, and support committed in writing
Success Criteria	Measurable outcomes with realistic timelines
Operating Rhythm	Reporting cadence, board interaction, CEO alignment
Protection	Severance, runway, and exit terms that protect your downside

NEGOTIATION STRATEGY

Remit

Negotiate the role itself — scope, authority, and operating conditions — before comp enters the conversation.

Support

Define the resources, team, and infrastructure required. Get commitments in writing before signing.

Compensation

Structure comp around the role you negotiated, not the role they posted. Align incentives with realistic targets.
